BEST-SELLING SERIES COMES TO AN END
Lancaster Brides series final book to release

(NASHVILLE, TN) A member of the Lancaster Amish Community, Rachel Beachy has been in love with Silas Swartley ever since she was little kinner. Although both avid bird-watchers, her tendencies to climb trees and scrape her knees has kept him from noticing she's a grown woman. Instead, he's had his sights on her beautiful, older sister.

When Rachel's sister leaves the Amish faith, she gives Rachel her hope chest—a gift filled with the linens and household items necessary to start an Amish household. Rachel realizes with her sister gone, she's been handed her first chance at getting Silas to notice her. Yet the harder she strives to prove herself, the worse things become. Will Rachel become the only girl in the Amish community with two hope chests and no wedding?

Author Bio: Wanda Brunstetter began writing in 1980 after taking a course from The Institute of Children's Literature. Now a best-selling author, she has sold nearly a million copies of her novels about the peaceful, simple life of the Amish.
