

Glass
Road

Public
Relations

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 20, 2006
Contact: Jessica Dotta
(615) 517-2332; jessica@glassroadpr.com

UNWANTED MIRACLES

Sometimes what we want isn't what we need

(NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE) Ever since a childhood accident left Rebekah Stoltzfus bound to a wheelchair, she has been precluded from the baseball games, ice-skating, sledding and other activities of the Amish youth. Now at a marriageable age, she knows it's unlikely she'll have children and feels barred from having a husband.

What Rebekah wants is a miracle. What she has is a challenge. In order not to burden her parents and extended family, she must become self-sufficient. While her pretty best friend is courted, Rebekah opens a greenhouse. Only once her business starts to become successful does shy, young Daniel Beachy start dropping hints about courting her. Is this the miracle she's been looking for, or does Daniel have ulterior motives?

Author Bio: Wanda Brunstetter began writing in 1980 after taking a course from The Institute of Children's Literature. Now a best-selling author, she has sold nearly a million copies of her novels about the peaceful, simple life of the Amish.

Wanda E. Brunstetter is available for interview.

###

Looking for a Miracle
Wanda E. Brunstetter
ISBN: 1-5978-9299-8
February 2007
$9.97, Tradepaper
Barbour Publishing

Wanda E. Brunstetter